

QUIET IN MEXICO AND GOOD ORDER WELL ENFORCED

NO NONSENSE OR LOOTING TOLERATED BY THE NEW ORDER.

(By International News Service.)
MEXICO CITY, August 17.—General Obregon is maintaining order here with an iron hand and the terror that preceded constitutionalist occupation is rapidly disappearing. Three looters shot last night after a drum-head court martial, and three more were executed today. A short respite will be given the constitutionalist troops who have arrived here. After the arrival of Carranza they will be sent to whip Zapata and the 5,000 federalists who retired to Guadalupe.

The constitutionalists expect to establish peace throughout the republic within a month and then they hope for recognition by the United States. John R. Silliman, representing the American government here, stands a good chance for being appointed ambassador here.

OFFICIAL PROGRAMME FOR LABOR DAY

Prof. J. C. Scrugham, dean of the engineering school of the University of Nevada, Saturday announced the official programme of events that have been arranged to occur at Mackay athletic field on Labor day, September 14, under the auspices of the engineering school and the Central Trades and Labor council of Nevada, with which the United States bureau of mines, the American Red Cross and the Nevada Industrial Safety association will co-operate.

The programme for the day is as follows:

10 a. m.—Athletic sports under the direction of the Central Trades and Labor council.

2 p. m.—Mine rescue test, under the direction of the Mackay school of mines and the United States bureau of mines. Nine teams are entered.

3:30 p. m.—Football game between University of Nevada and alumni.

4 p. m.—Tug-of-war. Building Trades council against miscellaneous unions.

4:30 p. m.—First aid contest under direction American Red Cross and Washoe County Medical association. Fifteen teams are entered.

6:30 p. m.—Dinner to visiting contestants. Addresses by the chairman of the board of regents and acting president of the University of Nevada, Governor Odell, Emmet D. Boyle and P. A. McCarran on behalf of the alumni, and by representatives of the Ely, McGill, Tonopah, Goldfield, Silver Peak, Reno Power, Light and Water company, Southern Pacific and other teams.

This will be one of the most interesting Labor day programmes ever held in Reno, and will doubtless attract many visitors from outside points.

UTAH POTATOES DISEASED.

According to Heber J. Webb, recently appointed by the Agricultural College of Utah as farm demonstrator in Salt Lake county, there is scarcely a potato in the State of Utah that is not afflicted with some sort of disease. It will be the aim of Mr. Webb to bring about a more careful selection of seed potatoes in an effort to eliminate the scab and other diseases that are affecting the fields of Utah. It will be well for Nevada potato growers to be careful that no Utah diseased potatoes get into this state. The Nevada growers will have trouble enough of their own without being afflicted with the diseased spuds from our neighboring state to the east.

A card party and dance will be given by the Pythian Sisters at Odd Fellows' hall, Monday evening, Aug. 17th. A1412

A Word of Caution

In nothing else can a person be more deceived than in the matter of glasses. Fakirs and unscrupulous peddlers know this and the country and often the city is visited by men who mislead the customer and give him only the cheapest and most harmful glasses.

CHILD WIFE ESCAPES BRUTAL HUSBAND

FALLS UNCONSCIOUS ON STREET AND SEIZED WITH MYSTICIS.

Mrs. Hillman, who arrived here three days ago from Washington, D. C., to join her husband, who came from the coast, fell unconscious on Main street, near Elks hall, last evening about 8 o'clock, and after recovery was seized with hysterics that caused Dr. Richards, the county physician, to place her in the hospital ward of the county jail. The woman was accompanied by a baby and her condition excited the sympathy of an immense crowd of theatergoers who blocked upper Main street while the officers were engaged in looking after the victim of what was supposed to be a heat stroke.

Inquiry proved that Mrs. Hillman, who is only 18 years of age and somewhat pretty, in spite of having been married two years, had quarreled with her husband and ran away from his clutches. She continued down the hill to Main street, where she collapsed. Later in the evening she was removed to the home of her brother-in-law, where she received the best of attention.

ONE OF BONANZA STAFF SURPRISES HIS FRIENDS

When the Bonanza force assembled this morning they were treated to a surprise by the announcement that John W. Connors, of the mechanical force, had been married to Miss Margaret Hallahan, Saturday evening, without any one knowing of the event. John was afraid of a charivari and kept the secret to himself until this morning, when the story leaked out. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Hallahan, who are well known in Bodie and Virginia, and the young couple deserve the congratulations of their friends. The couple have taken a cottage on University street.

SHERIFF ROUNDS UP 50,000 STRAY SHEEP

Sheriff Harris returned last night from Jarbridge and a trip to the northern part of the county, where he has spent the last several days in gathering up the stray and transient bands of sheep. The sheriff reports that he rounded up 50,000 head on the range for which a fine of 5 cents per head is collected. Last year he rounded up 90,000. He reports that the range is pretty good now, but not nearly as good as this time last year, as the hard frost in June had a bad effect on vegetation and has put a great deal of the grazing lands out of commission.—Elko Press.

GREAT BRITAIN DECLARES WAR TO PRESERVE BALANCE OF POWER

BY BURTON L. FRAZIER
Staff Correspondent of the International News Service.

LONDON, August 17.—The balance of European power is the object of the stupendous war now rending all Europe. Not sympathy with Serbia or Austria, not fraternal feeling for Slav or Teuton, not provisions of the Triple Alliance or the Triple Entente drew the great powers into a titanic death grapple, but the threatened overturning of the balance of power.

Why did England declare war against Germany and send her troops to the continent and her fleets into the North sea and the Mediterranean to stand beside France and Russia against Germany and Austria-Hungary? That is a question which the British public and perhaps the people of the United States did not clearly understand in the heat of the moment, when the war began.

Contrary to public opinion, England did not hot-headedly espouse the cause of little Serbia nor did Great Britain blindly follow the lead of France and Russia, her allies in the Triple Entente. England did not allow either her sympathies nor her diplomatic obligations to run away with her. She declared war to preserve the balance of power in Europe. That is the stake in this most far-reaching war that may involve seventeen million men of five great powers at a cost of approximately $54,000,000 a day for a period of time that no man can estimate.

The full gravity of the present European situation cannot be appreciated unless it is clearly and definitely understood that in this great international conflagration, England could not in her own most vital interest, afford to stand out.

It was not a matter of sympathy, or philanthropy or of international honor, or as some of the talk in parliament might have indicated at the time England's action was being discussed, but a matter of self-preservation.

By the balance of power is meant the control of Europe. The object of Great Britain's foreign policy is to keep the great powers in equilibrium. The increased strength of the Triple Alliance, brought about by the enormous military and naval development of Germany, forced the Dual Alliance of France and Russia. In the same way the rise of Germany led to the conclusion of the Entente Cordiale between England and France, which, on being extended to Russia, resulted in the present Triple Entente.

The whole security of the British empire, economically, commercially, industrially, as well as in naval and military power, depends on the maintenance of the balance of power.

By balance of power is meant the equal, or as nearly equal as possible, distribution of power among the six great nations, such a distribution as has prevailed since 1870. Should any one nation become too powerful, by the absorption of another state or group of small states, it would cause an overbalance of power and Europe's equilibrium would be upset.

Thus it was that Germany, fearing the long-threatened Pan-Slavic union, jumped into the conflict. Germany feared that Russia designed to unite all the Slav countries of the Balkans, Serbia, Bulgaria, Roumania and Montenegro into an empire that joined with Russia, would give the Slavonic people an overwhelming advantage and upset the balance.

In like manner, Russia, England and France feared that Austria-Hungary had designs on Serbia and other small Slav states of southeastern Europe and might annex them if she were victorious in the war. This would have given Austria and Germany too much of the balance of power that would have upset the equilibrium in the other direction. That was why, in the last effort to avert a general war, Austria-Hungary offered to guarantee the sovereignty of Serbia and to agree that she would not attempt to take any Serbian territory.

Great Britain cannot jeopardize her maritime supremacy, safeguarding her communication with her overseas dominions, Canada, Australia, India and Africa, by running the risk of any one power or group of powers obtaining ascendancy on the continent.

ment. She cannot imperil her jealously guarded traditions of liberty in her constitution and legislature by exposing England to the danger of dictation from a foreign power with ideas of government and freedom utterly remote from her own. For these reasons, England was one mind, that she could not afford to allow France to be crushed or the Dual Alliance to be weakened.

Therefore England joined the war to protect herself, not to aid Serbia alone, or even to fulfill her obligations to the Triple Entente; not through any hatred for Germany, but to preserve the balance of power.

GEORGE WINGFIELD WITHDRAWS NAME

WAR COMPLICATIONS COMPEL HIM TO BE ABSENT FROM STATE.

George Wingfield has withdrawn his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the state senate.

In discussing the matter with the Reno Gazette he stated that his act was prompted by important business engagements that could not have been anticipated when his candidacy was announced. He further said that he would be obliged to spend five or six weeks, possibly longer, out of the state within the next few weeks, and asked his friends to give their support to Mr. Cowles, his opponent in the primaries.

The Gazette, in commenting on Mr. Wingfield's withdrawal from the race, calls attention to the fact that Wingfield's candidacy was announced at a time when the business affairs of the country were running in ordinary channels. The changed conditions have necessarily placed additional and more serious responsibilities on Mr. Wingfield.

LAST DAY FOR REGISTRATION OFFICIALLY SET FOR THE TWENTIETH OF AUGUST

To the District Attorney of Nye County:

I am of the opinion that the last day for registration for the primaries election is Thursday, August 20th, at nine p. m., so notify registration agents in your county.

NEVADA HEIRESS GOES TO ORIENT

AFTER HONEYMOON THE COUPLE WILL TAKE UP THEIR RESIDENCE IN YOKOHAMA.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 17.—By the shore of the Southern sea, on the wide veranda of the Haffes hotel in Singapore, there began two years ago a romance which reached its climax in San Francisco yesterday with the marriage of Miss Frances R. Adams, daughter of former Governor J. W. Adams, of Nevada, to George H. Corse, Jr., formerly of this city, but now of Yokohama, Japan. The wedding ceremony was performed at noon at the Swedenborgian church by Rev. J. S. David, in the presence of only the parents of the bride.

The bride is one of the wealthiest heiresses of Nevada and met her future husband when making a trip around the world with her parents. Her family is one of the oldest in the Sage Brush state, as her father came to Nevada in 1864.

Corse has been connected with the Pacific Mail company for many years, and is now oriental representative of that company.
